

Join NorthEast Hawk Watch Now! Start the Adventure!

The NorthEast Hawk Watch (NEHW) is a registered not-for-profit all-volunteer organization established to increase awareness, appreciation and protection of our daytime birds of prey. We do that by promoting hawk watching, the study of hawk migration, throughout the northeast, including Canada.

NEHW:

- Conducts daily or weekend hawk watches organized by members throughout the region, primarily in September & October; some into December.
- Has several hawk watch sites near you, or you can explore for new sites on your own.
- Works with local bird clubs, Audubon chapters, and other hawk-watching organizations and individuals to promote hawk watching.
- Includes over 100 members across nine states and provinces.
- Publishes a 36-pp annual report on hawk migration through the region for the preceding year.
- Provides a free online silhouette guide to identifying hawks in flight
- Holds a special one-day conference on northeast hawk migration every four years.

Migration Data

NEHW provides all its data to the Hawk Migration Association of North America (HMANA). For a list of hawk watch sites throughout North America, and species totals daily and seasonally, visit HawkCount.org. There you can also find a calendar of migration by species for many sites, including ours. Discover when you are most likely to see numbers of any species, and what the biggest dates and totals are by species. Also visit www.HMANA.org too!

Nobody, anywhere, provides the data and analysis on migration through the northeast like you'll find in the annual NEHW Hawk Migration Report.

Connect

- Discover one of the largest, visible animal migrations on our planet.
- See dozens, sometimes hundreds, and occasionally a thousand or more migrating hawks in one day!
- Ask NEHW to connect you with watch sites and experienced watchers near you.
- Visit NEHW sites during migration to see hawks well, and learn to identify hawks by observing with our experienced members.
- Discover the excitement of unforgettable views of hawks, learning more about them, and meeting new friends.

NEHW Membership

NEHW has membership dues of only $10 per year so we can publish a 36-pp report on the spring and fall migration through the northeast for the previous year. This report includes data and analysis for more than 50 watch sites in 9 states and provinces! No one in North America provides a more comprehensive report on each year's migration, by site, by species, and by day for any region.

Reporting NEHW Hawk Watch Sites

To see a larger map of our sites visit www.battaly.com/nehw/map.htm, and find complete directions to fifteen of the most active sites in the northeast.

Visit NEHW online at www.battaly.com/nehw to find more info on hawks and hawk watching, including a free silhouette guide for identifying hawks in flight, videos, and select NEHW Hawk Migration Reports.

Membership Rewards

Join now! We'll send you the current NEHW Hawk Migration Report and a NEHW decal. Ask us for contact info for a site near you. Visit a site and start an incredible journey where you might see up to 15 species of hawks and other migrants, including waterfowl and passerines, and meet some wonderful people.
